

Perinatal Safety Symposium

Promoting Safe Care for Mothers and Newborns

Friday January 20th, 2017

8:00 am - 4:00 pm

UCSF Benioff Children's Hospital Mission Hall Building, Room 1400
550 16th St, San Francisco CA

This symposium has been developed for nurses caring for pregnant women with an emphasis on perinatal safety. Recognition of safety threats or potential threats will be discussed and strategies to reduce risk and patient harm will be highlighted.

It is our hope that attendees will gain new insights aimed to improve clinical practice, create safer perinatal systems, and ultimately protect women and infants during pregnancy and birth.

Program Objectives

- At the conclusion of this program, participants will be able to:
- Describe how implementation of the national safety bundles will improve outcomes for woman and infants
- Discuss potential safety threats from food and the environment during pregnancy
- Cite safety concerns associated with alarm fatigue
- Disclose accurate information to patients and families following a sentinel event
- Highlight anesthesia considerations for hospitalized pregnant women
- Review the rationale for antenatal testing recommendations for scheduled birth
- Offer a new perspective on community health aimed to prevent preterm birth

Symposium Fees:

UCSF Staff: $25.00

UCSF Perinatal Outreach Contract Hospitals: $45.00

General Admission: $95.00
